

"I support the decision of President Obama to back stem cell research. His decision will be broadly backed by a strong bipartisan coalition on Capitol Hill. This policy will accelerate new cures and ensure American leadership in medicine."

US Rep. Mark Kirk led the effort to pass the first congressional stem cell research bill, H.R. 810, which was vetoed by President Bush.